2	ENGS	1	add to the title	TOWARDS 2019: Let us move Europe!	TOWARDS 2019: Let us move Europe in a sustainable direction!	VOTE
3	Bündnis 90/ Die Grünen	3	add		The last decades were marked by the peace, freedom, democracy and the increase of justice the European unification had brought to the people in Europe. We gained many liberties in our daily lives: The European integration enabled us to travel without borders, live and work where and love who we want. And in many European countries we can pay with the same currency. We Greens stand for the European life style unified in diversity. Regarding the protection of nature many improvements were achieved during the last years, reducing the amount of waste, making steps towards a greener economy and increasing the use of renewable energies, while starting to phase out of nuclear energy. Green parties throughout Europe have contributed immensely to this progress. But there still is homework to do in order to truly protect the environment and the climate. And we will continue to strive towards a Europe that is truly sustainable, socially just and that protects civil liberties. Alarmed we currently see that some of the achievements we made are endangered. And we see enormous challenges ahead of us. These challenges bear risks to the coherence of our societies, the goal of sustaining nature and the deepening of the European project.	CAS accepted as amended: The last decades were marked by the peace, freedom, democracy the process of European unification had brought to the people in Europe. We gained many liberties in our daily lives: the European integration gave us the possibility to travel without borders, live and work where we want. Important steps towards greener economy and society have been taken and are underway; the transformation of our energy systems towards renewables and out of fossils and nuclear is a possible and realistic perspective. Green parties throughout Europe have contributed immensely to this progress. But we are in the middle of a fourfold revolution.
4	GroenLinks	5-6	delete	We are, de facto, in the middle of a fourfold revolution.		withdrawn

5	GroenLinks	21-26	delete	In the last European elections our slogan was: "Change Europe, vote Green". But under the present circumstances in many cases the people fear change as much as they strive for it. There is a widespread scramble for security, for safety, for protection against being exposed to the dangerous winds that are blowing. Therefore "change" is not a self-explanatory political goal anymore. Maybe it never was, but certainly		CAS accepted as amended: In the last European elections our slogan was: "Change Europe, vote Green". Today there is also a widespread scramble for security, for safety, for protection against being exposed to the dangerous winds that are blowing. Under the present circumstances in many cases the people fear change as much as they strive for it, therefore in the present societal and political climate our politics of change and hope must also address the security issue.

	Vihreät - De Gröna	27	add			CAS accepted: We need to advance economic balance and social justice as alternatives to fear-mongering right-wing politics, to restore the confidence and trust of the people on the outskirts of our societies. We cannot afford to leave the less well off feeling unappreciated and unattended for. A Green change towards a socially and ecologically sustainable world is essential for a secure society.

15	Europe Ecologie Les Verts	80	replace	European Greens are not as strong presently as we have been in the past. In some countries we are very successful while in others we lack the strength and success which we would all cherish.	European Greens still need to reinforce the strength and success in the countries where we are still not too strong , especially since our proposals are stronger than ever in our societies, infusing at all levels, in all political parties.	CAS accepted as amended: European Greens are not as strong presently as we have been in the past.
