

Compromise amendments to draft resolution "The EU and Europeans can do more for refugees" - Individual votes

Nº	Party	CAS Lines	Action	Current Text (compromise version)	Proposed Amendment	Explanation / Comments
12	FYEG	CAS 40-41	add	In contrast with the inefficient and inadequate actions of the EU Member States, we are ...	In contrast with the inefficient, inadequate and often wrong actions of the EU Member States, we are ...
17	FYEG / CAS	CAS 58	add	2	Calls for the abolition of FRONTEX.
26	Vihreät - De Gröna	CAS 75	add	add after "states."	Remains critical towards a safe countries list, which is highly problematic from human rights perspective.	The list is important to mention, as it is still under discussion and remains problematic.
27	Die Grünen	CAS 80-82	add	4. Demands the establishment of a permanent and binding distribution system at EU level, which takes into proper account the preferences of refugees, notably in terms of language, community and family links, as well as the need to reduce current imbalances..	4. Demands the establishment of a permanent and binding distribution system at EU level, which takes into proper account the preferences of refugees, notably in terms of language, community and family links, as well as the size of member states overall population and wealth (GDP) and the need to reduce current imbalances..	Also mention that the distribution system should take into account the wealth (GDP) of the Member States and the size of population

№	Party	CAS Lines	Action	Current Text (compromise version)	Proposed Amendment	Explanation / Comments
28	CAS Vihreät - De Gröna / B90/ Die Grünen	CAS 90	add		Revised text: For example Lebanon has taken more refugees than the whole EU: over 1,8 million refugees from Syria, in addition to the 450 000 Palestine refugees, totalling over 2,25 million refugees.	There is too much talk about taking care of the refugee problem as close to its roots as possible. At the same time Lebanon and the palestinians have been left under a far too massive burden both concerning the current Iraqi & Syrian crisis as well as the crisis in Palestine, namely accepting the violent acquisition of the Palestinian lands to imported migrants from the Former Soviet Union and other settlers instead of letting the refugees return to cultivate and inhabit their own lands. Also those countries responsible of ruining the former Iraqi state and thus making it a perfect cradle/birthplace and safe heaven for ISIS/ISIL, should take more responsibility of supporting the refugees of Iraq and Iran. It is tragicomical that Germany, who strongly opposed the Iraqi war of Mr Bush and his allies, now carries the heaviest burden of the Middle Eastern refugee crisis.
30	EELV	CAS 95	add	New bullet point	Due to the fact that women might have faced specific situations such as sexual violence while on the way, special programs must be implemented by local and national authorities to ensure there is adequate special child care so that the women, and especially the mothers receive medical assistance and find the necessary time to get juridical help when filing for regularisation.

№	Party	CAS Lines	Action	Current Text (compromise version)	Proposed Amendment	Explanation / Comments
31	EELV	CAS 96	add	Considers that the establishment in Greece, Hungary and Italy ...	Considers that the establishment in Greece, Hungary , Italy and anywhere else in the EU where and when needed ...	withdrawn
32	EELV	CAS 96-100	replace	Considers that the establishment in Greece and Italy of so-called “hot spots” in the presence of EU experts, Europol, FRONTEX and the European Asylum Support Office, can play a positive role if and only as long as a substantial relocation from these hotspots to EU countries takes place swiftly. Is concerned that those “hotspots” might turn into deportation and detention centres, as openly envisaged by some member states.	Considers that the establishment of so-called «hot spots» in the presence of EU experts, Europol, FRONTEX and the European Asylum Support Office, in Greece, Hungary and Italy, underestimates the fact that these countries are already at the limits of their reception capacities and thus this is not an appropriate response. The refugees must be relocated to other Member States less exposed to arrivals of refugees and migrants. Should these « hot spots » be installed, the EGP is concerned that those “hotspots” might turn into deportation and detention centres, as openly envisaged by some member states.	it is quite naive to think that these hot spots would be temporary. You just have to go to Calais, which in fact was a "hot spot", and realise what these become. This is not the answer !
45	FYEG	CAS 120-125	replace	Compromise text: We are convinced that only stable solutions to the on-going conflicts, (notably) through diplomatic efforts involving all parties including the EU; a sustainable development policy and a robust commitment to the 0,7 target, a complete change of direction in the EU agricultural and trade priorities, a serious fight against climate change as well as support for mitigation and adaptation would make living conditions more acceptable in countries of the global south.	To add to compromise text: ... EU and agricultural and trade policies, especially arms trade; as well as a shift and a unification of EU Member States' foreign policies especially in terms of military interventions, and a serious commitment against climate change, including support for mitigation and adaptation; would make living conditions more acceptable in neighboring countries and countries of the global south.

Nº	Party	CAS Lines	Action	Current Text (compromise version)	Proposed Amendment	Explanation / Comments
47	GGEP	CAS 126	add		Moreover, we deem necessary an honest assessment of the consequences of past and present military interventions, notably by NATO and some EU Member States, in some conflict zones. We stress that any military intervention must strictly comply with international law. We call for a drastic revision of the European arms export policy.	