Most large nations have active cyber warfare units, such as Israel's Unit 8200, China's Unit 61398 and North Korea's 'Lazarus Group', which have attacked companies and civilians using ransomware and other malware.	Insert from line 13 to 15: malfunctions. Most large nations have active cyber warfare units, such as Israel's Unit 8200, China's Unit 61398 and North Korea's 'Lazarus Group', USA's NSA , Germany's Pegasus , some of which have attacked companies and civilians using ransomware and other malware.	Proposal: discuss at CAS
2	AM-45-1	FYEG	governments to share information and provide mutual assistance to attribute emerging cyber threats.	Insert from line 44 to 45: governments to share information and provide mutual assistance to attribute emerging cyber threats. Next to the problem of attribution, the other reason why International Humanitarian Law cannot address this issue is the question of physical impact of the attack. If a cyberattack has no physical impact on civilians it should be lawful in contrast to a cyberattack that physically impacts civilians lives.	Proposal: discuss at CAS

3	AM-63-1	Groen	Information and cyber operations and measures taken against citizens have also affected their freedom of expression and the freedom of the press. During Russia's current attack on Ukraine, independent journalists were blocked from major social media channels after the platforms flagged their accounts as suspicious. This has resulted in both chilling effects and difficulties for anti-war activists. Social media is an important public sphere: for example, YouTube provides a major alternative news medium in the highly controlled Russian media environment.	Delete from line 63 to 70: Information and cyber operations and measures taken against citizens have also affected their freedom of expression and the freedom of the press.
