4	ICV	17-18	replace	Unless the situation de-escalates, we could soon be facing a dramatic situation.	After a failed Unilateral Declaration of Independence on October 27th, the Spanish government took the steps (triggering the famous 155 article of the Constitution) to remove the Catalan government and set fresh Catalan parliamentary elections for next December, 21st. Additionally, the judiciary system imprisoned in custody pending trial some of the political and social leaders of the separatist movement with severe accusations. The unilateralist independence process has imploded but unless the situation de-escalates, we could soon be facing a dramatic situation again. It is widely shared that Catalan society cannot longer afford this political tension and there is a growing desire for social and democratic normalization.
5	ICV	23-27	delete/ add/ replace	The Catalan government should abandon the use and threat of the 'Unilateral Declaration of Independence', and the Spanish government should not disproportionally distort Catalan self-government to avoid the former, removing threats to completely suspend the current political autonomy.	The next Catalan government should abandon the threat of another 'Unilateral Declaration of Independence', and the Spanish government should not distort Catalan self-government to avoid the former after new elections take place , removing threats to suspend the current political autonomy.
6	FYEG	43-44	replace	" We do not accept the results of the so-called referendum that took place on 1st October, in Catalonia, as valid , given the absence of minimum procedural guarantees, as acknowledged by international observers, and given that it was not recognised as such by most of the Catalan people."	We do not recognise the civil mobilisation that took place on 1st October, in Catalonia, as a referendum , given the absence of minimum procedural guarantees, as acknowledged by international observers, and given that it was not recognised as such by most of the Catalan people".

7	ICV	43-48	add new point 4		4. We consider it disproportionate to jail preemptively Catalan separatists who are currently on custody pending trial in prison. We expect that Spanish judiciary system takes necessary steps to release them from provisional detention as soon as possible.
8	ICV	48	add	... and in particular the Unilateral Declaration of Independence.	... and in particular the Unilateral Declaration of Independence already promoted by the Catalan government and parliament.
9	Scottish Greens	43-48	delete point 4	We do not accept the results of the so-called referendum that took place on 1st October, in Catalonia, as valid, given the absence of minimum procedural guarantees, as acknowledged by international observers, and given that it was not recognised as such by most of the Catalan people. Therefore, it has no basis for legitimate unilateral steps towards independence, and in particular the Unilateral Declaration of Independence.
10	Scottish Greens	55-60	delete point 6	In our opinion, the political solution requires the constitutional acceptance of Spain's plurinationality, a reformed institutional framework that modernises the Spanish state, making it compatible with widely shared demands of the Catalan people, establishing fraternal links between Catalan society and the rest of Spain while defusing the hate dynamics, and building a more democratic European Union to bury old grievances.
11	ICV	60	add new point		8. We support efforts that our partner ICV, and "Catalunya en Comú Podem" as its electoral coalition to promote dialogue and a sustainable political resolution.
