

"Statement for a just future "

Live sustainability

In the current all-pervasive crisis, the aspect of sustainability of economic, political and social action all too often recedes to the background. We are convinced that sustainability is the only true solution to this crisis. We are willing to take responsibility for our country, our future generations and the countries of the South. Green politics knows about the relationships that connect all countries of the world and strives for the realization of the common good.

Living together

We believe that the coexistence of different languages and cultures is a basic quality and one of our core responsibilities. Although it requires a lot of commitment, a successful social coexistence of all people is a highly beneficial experience for South Tyrol and, at the same time, an opportunity for the future. That is why we are working hard on its realization. Exchange, cooperation, understanding and intercultural dialogue are the key for an open South Tyrol that unfold its real value as "Heimat".

Social Justice

All people living in South Tyrol have the right to live a dignified Life. Therefore, we want to reduce differences in income, create good and secure jobs and solidary life forms that allow equal opportunities among genders and generations. We consider public education and the development of lifelong learning key opportunities for social justice. We advocate for a public, universally accessible health care of high quality.

Appreciate nature

Climate and the landscape, biodiversity and resources are the treasures of the alpine region. We focus on nature, defend the commons of air, water and soil and open up ways of sustainable use. We want to defend the beauty of natural landscapes against speculation and development pressure. We want to protect nature through common good use of energy, serve the common good in general and at the same time prevent private profiteering.

Develop autonomy

We believe that autonomy is the form of self-government and political action that corresponds best to coexistence. We want the autonomy to secure appropriate rights and opportunities for all citizens of South Tyrol and like this pave the way to a prosperous future. Autonomy and democracy are inextricably intertwined with common growth: we continue working for their development.

More Democracy

We share the desire for democracy and participation, which has significantly increased among many citizens. Policy which is made from the top, has reached its limits. Through direct democracy we want to ensure transparent and responsible decisions taken mainly in the communities. We advocate for the adoption of a new state law to direct democracy that strengthens citizens' rights and participation.
